

Come meet the Vets on "U.S. Clean Energy Tour"

Gallup Solar invites you to come to this public meeting/press conference to hear veterans speak about the importance of clean energy for our national security

Date: 02/03/2010

Time: 3:00—5:00 p.m.

Place: Multicultural Center (Train Station), 201 E. Historic Highway 66 - Meeting room adjacent to the Navajo Code Talkers Museum.

Veterans launch national tour for clean energy and security.

"At meets and greets...the veterans will describe how dependence on oil is making America vulnerable, and causing destabilizing climate change - threatening peace and security around the world."

Their national tour, which started in Virginia, will go to: Missouri, Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona, Nevada, Washington, Montana, North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois, Michigan and Ohio.

Operation Free is a coalition of veterans and national security organizations dedicated to securing America with clean energy. Learn more about Operation Free and the National Veterans for American Power Tour at www.OperationFree.net

To learn more about Gallup Solar go to: www.gallupsolar.org